The tent is composed of modular units, and its construction speed is more than 6 times faster than the construction speed of color steel rooms, steel structure rooms and other buildings. Now make money by the second billing era, save time, is to save money.

2

Large use space, the internal space utilization rate of the tent is as high as 99%, and the largest venue is built in the limited site. Ignoring the site and climate problems, it is suitable for all kinds of activities, such as the hardened ground of the basketball court, the lawn of the football field, the sandy ground of the beach volleyball, and the humid environment of the natatorium, for which it can officially reflect its value. In major cities, where land is precious, the effective use of space is the best return for investors. The canopy has a variety of spans and supports customization of various sizes. We will use the fastest time, the best products to meet the various needs of customers.

The tent is a temporary construction product, the use of no worries

Remember one thing: The approval of the tent construction is very simple, just apply for a temporary construction approval with the relevant local departments. The installation and disassembly of the tent is very convenient, in a short period of time, it can be completely realized, movable.

4

Rich fixing methods, do not do embedment can still be firmly fixed in accordance with the specific terrain conditions, the following four fixing methods for reference: 1 installation site for cement or asphalt ground and other hardened ground using expansion screws. 2 The installation site is soft sand, mud or grass using steel. 3 If the installation site is a marble or tile floor that cannot be damaged, use a bearing tray. 4 Fixed on the concrete floor for a long time, it can be fixed by bolts or welding by using embedded facilities.
