What is a high standard industrial aluminum alloy canopy?

1. The standard is too high + control costs: too high standards and the problem of approval, so that customers as long as the choice of temporary industrial aluminum alloy tent building tent warehouse, many companies will ask why not choose to use steel structure, which is about the cost problem, for the wind performance requirements are too high, the cost of using steel structure is far more than the tent in, while the cycle is long.

2. High requirements for wind resistance of environmental factors: Typhoons in coastal areas, wind, tent warehouse as a temporary building, in order to meet certain specifications to meet the local wind requirements, due to the particularity of storage goods, but also to solve the problem of fire protection, the internal structure plus water pipes, to consider the inclined beam, square pipe can bear, roof structure can not bear a series of problems, it is not easy.

Why choose outdoor tents?

The charm of the tent is not all in the appearance, but more in the speed.

Whether it is sand, grass or cement, it can be easily built, and it can be established and used safely and securely. Wedding tent and outdoor exhibition tent adopts unit combination design, short construction cycle, can also be quickly disassembled, very convenient and fast. The outdoor exhibition tent is not only fast in disassembly, but also can be continuously established in other places at any time after disassembly!

Second, the practical outdoor exhibition tent is temporary construction for a variety of outdoor activities, the selection of temporary construction units, it is composed of basic mobile structure and tarpaulin, the structure is generally aluminum alloy profiles and steel as the main components, disassembly is very sensitive, easy to store, with small size, easy to transport and other characteristics. And it is frequently used in daily outdoor activities, such as outdoor celebrations, exhibitions, festival promotions, auto show canopies, etc. iii.

Economy

Outdoor exhibition tent can be directly purchased or short-term rental, tent manufacturers according to their own needs to determine the temporary or permanent use of the exhibition tent, which not only saves more economic costs, but also will not lead to the waste of resources. The establishment and disassembly of the outdoor exhibition tent are fast and fast, and as a movable temporary construction, it has great economic utility.
