Party tents and tents :

Party canopies, large canopies, hanging canopies, cone canopies, etc., these are the names of outdoor canopies, but what areas do they have No, which one do I really need?

In the United States, the term "marquee" is not often used to describe temporary outdoor canopies, which range from camping canopies to large houses

A big two-story building is all about the same thing, and if you use it for a party, it's called a party tent.

Most countries in the world use the American language, except in Britain and other parts of Europe where it has developed
The difference between the terms.

"party tent" is used in the low-end market tents, often made of PE material, and designed for the domestic market
My heart.

"marquee" is suitable for weddings or larger, more high-end canopies with more functions.

However, there is a cross between the large sections of the tent, so it is difficult to distinguish the heavy tent from the cheap tent.

Hanging canopy is generally relatively small, often folded structure design is mainly used in domestic consumption. These are designed to be easy on top and resistant

Long time, they can be erected in just a few seconds, the ingenious place is in the folded canopy;

Cone canopies (also known as witch hats or Chinese hats) can be said to be of uneven quality, but can pass through the sharp shape of the roof

Shape to distinguish. Often used as larger party canopies or large canopies the striking entrance is also seen with hanging canopies and eaves

The commercial equivalent of a canopy.

If you want to have an attractive event entrance, then in the United States will require the use of party canopies and cone canopies as the entrance,

But in England it's a bigger tent with a cone canopy as the entrance!

If you have bought an outdoor tent, you would like to retrofit the tent yourself to meet both the general party tent and large
Wedding canopy requirements, then you must provide your client with advice on organizing this event and how to build this canopy blue
