What kind of event shelter or party shelter do you need? Here are a few suggestions:

1 Calculate the required tent area:

This event, how many people participate in the event site layout, generally speaking, the banquet per capita 1.5 square meters. Depending on the event or banquet, Set up how many tables and chairs to entertain your guests, depending on the size of the table and chairs, and at the same time, make sure you save for all events Out of the space, such as dancing place, stage, banquet, etc., to plan out a tent plane size map.

2 Accurately measure the site where the tent is to be built:

The construction of the tent requires additional space beyond the size of the tent itself to secure the tent, so the space you reserve should be larger than the size of the tent itself A few.

3 Decide whether the tent needs a curtain:

The curtain can block the wind and rain, if you are not sure about the weather conditions of the day you hold the activity, it is recommended that you choose the curtain is better, so that you can do Just in case, but there is an extra cost for the curtain.

4 Find a professional and experienced shelter service company:

Introduce influential companies through the Internet or through companies in the same industry. 5 Ask the shelter company to provide a shelter quote. Let the tent company give you tents, curtains, tables and chairs to make an offer, tell the information of your party activities to the tent company, such as how many people

What do you need for your event tent, how much space do you have in your venue, etc., and ask them to come up with one for you

Expense budget. 6 Provide power wiring for the mobile tent

Generally, the tent needs to provide lighting, air conditioning and other power equipment, so ensure that the power supply in the tent is available. The shelter company is not able to provide this

The service requires the activity company or the owner to provide the tent power connection. According to all the electricity in the tent The device calculates the total power and provides a sufficiently thick power cord according to the power size.
