Product Description

Easy-To-Assemble Sports Hall Tent For Quick And Hassle-Free Installation

Introduction:

The flexibility of the tent makes the layout of the sports venue more flexible and diverse. Traditional sports venues often require long-term fixed building structures, which limits the use and change of the site. The tent can be quickly built and dismantled according to actual needs, so that the sports venue can be flexibly adjusted according to different sports and activities.

The canopy also has good ventilation. Through reasonable design and ventilation facilities, the air inside the tent can flow smoothly, keeping the indoor air fresh and refreshing. This is especially important for physical activity, which can effectively reduce fatigue and discomfort during exercise.

The requirements of the sports tent for the construction environment are relatively low, and the treatment of the foundation is not required, as long as the general flat ground can be easily built. And the price is based on the area to calculate the unit price, very affordable, compared with the traditional concrete construction can save 2-3 percent of the cost, for investment friends is the most suitable choice. But at the same time of economic benefits, we must also be enough to ensure the safety factor of your tent, sports tent frame all made of high-quality aluminum alloy profiles, with safety, stability, corrosion resistance, resistance to 10 wind and other performance. The external tarpaulin is double-coated PVC tarpaulin, the color can be selected according to customer requirements, you can also use conventional white, with sun protection, flame retardant, self-cleaning and other performance, very suitable for outdoor use.
